

Quality . . . Value . . . Flexibility

Williams
College

Business Information Systems – ABE

ABE is one of the leading professional Bodies in Business Studies in the UK and all over the world. The ABE qualifications are recognised all over the world as one of the best professional standards in Business Management. This programme addresses the very real need for new and highly computer literate professionals who can link between technology and business practices within an organisation. The Diploma and Advanced Diploma in Business Information Systems offered by the ABE (Association of Business Executives) prepares students for careers where they can take responsibility for developing many day to day business applications using spreadsheets, databases and other rapid development packages. They also may need to liaise with IT colleagues on larger scale projects and to understand the business potential for networking and the Internet.

Career prospects

The course is designed to develop and equip individuals with a sound understanding of technical and professional skills required by an effective Information systems manager and other related role for position of high authority and responsibility in commerce, industry, public services as well as not for profit sector.

Qualifications offered at Williams College

Certificate in Business information systems
Diploma (1 & 2) in Business information systems
Advanced Diploma in business information systems

Start dates

February/June/October each year

Study modes

Full time & Part time

Examinations

June & December

For further information

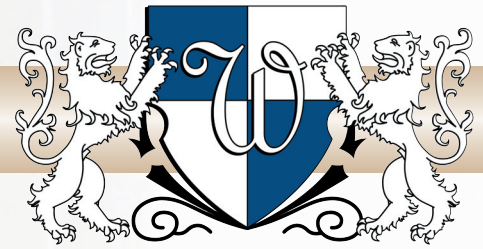

Williams College

Tel: 0207 583 9222 Fax: 0207 583 9095 E mail: info@williamscollege.co.uk
www.williamscollege.co.uk

Williams College, Thavies Inn House, 5 Holborn Circus, Holborn, London EC1N 2HB

Quality . . . Value . . . Flexibility

Williams
College

Information Systems – IMIS

IMIS is the leading professional association in the Information Systems management sector. A registered charity, it has consistently played a prominent role in fostering greater understanding of the importance of IS management, working to enhance the status of those engaged in the profession, and promoting higher standards through better education and training, both in the UK and overseas. While there are several professional associations concentrating primarily on the technical side of the IS equation, IMIS is the only one which focuses specifically on the practical application and management of information systems within our society.

Career prospects

The course is designed to develop and equip individuals with a sound understanding of technical and professional skills required by an IT technician and other related role for position of high authority and responsibility in commerce, industry, public services as well as not for profit sector.

Qualifications offered at Williams College

Foundation certificate in Information Systems
Diploma in Information Systems
Higher Diploma in Information Systems
Graduate Diploma in Information Systems

Start dates

February/June/October each year

Study modes

Full time, Part time

Examinations

June & December

For further information Williams College

Tel: 0207 583 9222 Fax: 0207 583 9095 E mail: info@williamscollege.co.uk
www.williamscollege.co.uk

Williams College, Thavies Inn House, 5 Holborn Circus, Holborn, London EC1N 2HB

